

NEW KEYBOARD NETWORKER APPOINTED

Churches Together For Greater Bristol & Together 4 Bristol

The Churches Together for Greater Bristol & Together 4 Bristol & Keyboard 2020 are pleased to announce the appointment of Carmen Carrol, as the new part-time Keyboard Networker.

The Keyboard 2020 Trust aims and objective is:

- To promote a culture of racial justice and equality in and through the churches in the city of Bristol.
- To identify and work with leaders of Black led churches and to engage, encourage and promote networks and prayer.
- To maintain a database of Black led churches.
- To organise a number of gatherings each year for prayer and sharing.
- To create forums; for regular communication through social and electronic media.
- To assist in promoting the work of Black led churches across the wider community through CTGB/T4B and Bristol Networks

Carmen stated "It's important to have bridges that bring equality in our churches and community. It's equally important to not do things that will break those bridges down".

A bit of background; this position was vacant for 18 years, it's befitting to pay homage to Leotta 'Leo' Goodridge who was a community activist for equality and social justice in the community. A founding member of the Bristol council Race Forum and was also the Keyboard Networker.

As the new Networker Carmen is no stranger to community involvement, with a background on social equality, a community and youth worker, events promoter & marketer and currently a radio presenter with her husband on the radio promoting urban gospel music for the past 8 years.

Inclusiveness takes on many forms; when we feel included when our voice is heard, and when we see outward changes; that's when we know we've made a difference, inclusiveness is better than it has been, but there is still challenges. When we look at what our faith teaches us about unity, it states we are just as a body, though one, has many parts, but all its many parts form one body 1 Corinthians 12v12.

We all have apart to play; to focus on how we build on the best ways to engage in our community in; education, prisons, mental health care, family support and community life. It would be great to connect with you.
